

DRUMHELLER BUILDING

In 1900, Jesse Drumheller, a successful stockman and rancher, helped two of his sons purchase a local hardware business, which then became the Drumheller Company. The tallest of the three buildings that now make up this complex was built in 1904 to house the Drumhellers' new store, which would operate for several decades. Today, you can still see the old "Drumheller Co." signs painted on the side of the building.

The Drumheller building has 42+ tenants including The Red Monkey, Academy Mortgage, Mero., Tarragon NW, TKCPA, among many others.
